Town: A Study Of Human Life In The Tropics

Synopsis

Charles Wagley (1913-1991) was an American anthropologist specializing in rural Latin America. His principal focus was on Brazil, where he is considered to be one of the founders of contemporary Brazilian anthropology. He made major contributions to the concept of culture areas for Latin America (including a typology of subcultures for the region) and to the notion that race was a cultural construct. He conducted extensive research in the among indigenous groups and rural Brazilians. Out of the latter came his classic description of life in the : Town. With this volume, editor/author Richard Pace has revised and updated Charles Wagley's Town to coincide with Wagley's 100th birthday in late 2013.
